CONTENT IS KING

We understand a good abstract system must be mobile friendly from day one. It must be simple to consume, share and search for content on any device.

Participants can search for and filter both abstracts and posters to find the information most relevant to their needs. Not only are abstracts easy to find, they can be shared through an email, online message or whatever format is required.

Participants can search for specific words within the abstract to quickly find the relevant section. Abstracts can be bookmarked to improve data management.

BIG DATA

Big Data and Event Apps have formed an unholy alliance.

Thousands of papers and additional materials may now all be available in one place, but how are your delegates going to wade through all of that information?

The whole content discovery process becomes both frustrating and disengaging. Your delegates do not have the time to manually search through hundreds or thousands of sessions, abstracts and ePosters to find one that peaks their interest.

SpotMe App features do just this, and more, by making content relevant to your delegates with engaging and innovative features.
